END OF ADDENDUM NO. 1

Question 1
Phase I of this study utilized a WikiMap tool (Chesapeake Mapping Initiative (wikimapping.com)) Is that tool accessible for re-use as part of the Phase II project, if broadened to include counties in Virginia, Maryland, and Delaware? Or is development of a new tool required?

Answer
The mapping tool used in Phase 1 of the Chesapeake Mapping Initiative is accessible and can be used for Phase 2. It is on the WikiMapping platform and can be modified to include selected new counties. The National Trust can update the map based on suggestions by the contractor.

Question 2
The RFP references final reports and findings from the Phase I effort. Will those documents and materials be accessible by the selected candidate?
Answer
Yes, final reports and findings from Phase 1 of the Chesapeake Mapping Initiative will be made available.

Question 3
Is there an estimated budget in mind for Phase II?

Answer
The National Trust does not publish project budgets.

Question 4
Will there be additional phases to the project in the future?

Answer
There may be additional phases of the Chesapeake Mapping Initiative in the future. However, these phases are still in the planning and development stages.
